A Conversation with Jessica

Why did you write ‘The Adventures of Euca’?

What inspired you?

Nature inspired me. I wanted to get the message across that it’s not just humans and animals that are alive; plants are too!

What was the biggest challenge when writing ‘The Adventures of Euca’?

Cutting it down to be more concise and to flow well whilst still telling the story.

Do you like to create books for adults, kids or a cause? Why?

Kids because it is a platform to educate them on important issues whilst still creating a lovely, fun story.

Where do you get your information or ideas for your books?

My ideas come to me when I’m spending time in nature, enjoying the beauty and recharging.

Do you have any suggestions to help others become a better writer? If so, what are they?

I found it easiest to just let the story flow without thinking about it too much and then doing lots and lots of editing and drafts to get to the final product.

Who inspires you?

Children do. They are dreamers and have such a zest for life that is often lacking in adults.

As a child, what did you want to do when you grew up?

I wanted to own an ice cream van so I could eat ice cream all day.

What would you say is your interesting writing quirk?

I have to be in nature to let my creative writing juices flow.

What is your work schedule like when you’re writing?

I still work full time as a nurse, so I fit my writing in around that.

What are your plans for your future books?

To create some more tales in ‘The Adventures of Euca’.
